

Mistakes Help Me Learn!

Human beings learn by doing and trying new things. When you try something for the first time, or even the 20th time, you might make a mistake. That's okay! That means you get to learn something new. Consider this example, then reflect on one from your own life.

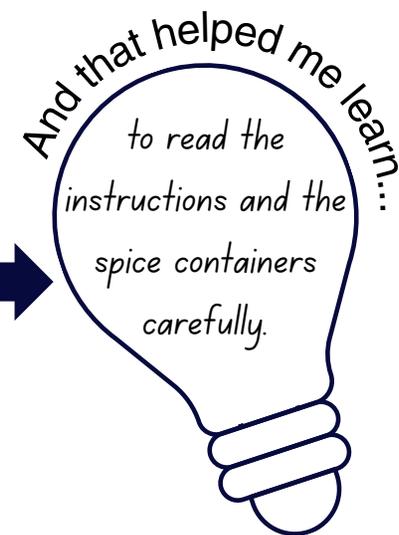

When I tried...

baking cookies by myself for the first time.

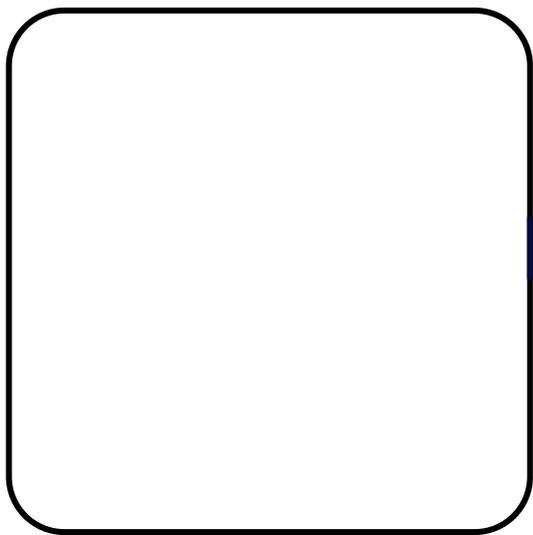

A mistake I made...

was getting the baking soda mixed up with the salt.

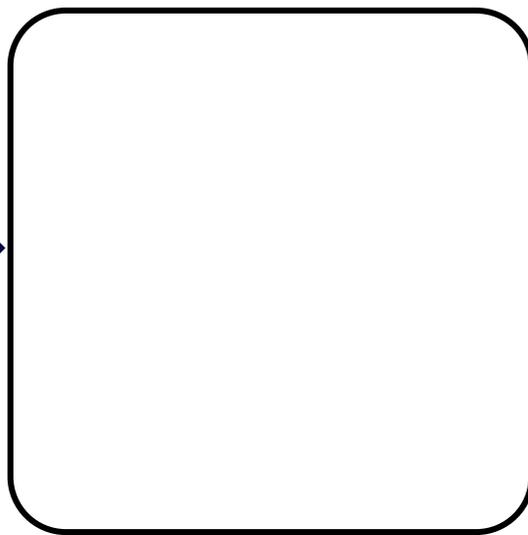

And that helped me learn...
to read the instructions and the spice containers carefully.

When I tried...

A mistake I made...

And that helped me learn...

